1 TRUTH, 2 LIE'S

From the man himself Jimbo the Electrician, he shares some of his crazy on-site stories, but which one is the truth?

Statement 1:

Customer had a chair with hundreds of real teeth glued to it

Statement 2:

Customer tried to pay a £600 bill in 2p savings

Statement 3:

Customer answered the door naked

TOP 3 TIPS

1. Check The Busbar

Check the busbar connections with an insulated mirror to prevent any loose connections.

2. Testing Made Easier

If your testing on your own, grab yourself a pair of R1+R2 test leads, I promise it's like having an extra pair of hands

3. Heat Shrink over Insulation Tape

Heat shrink is a lot more durable and will not lose its adhesiveness over time, and shows a much neater finish

DID YOU KNOW?

There is a different procedure for EV chargers!

As we know the everyday RCD's we fit are 30mA rated, but... did you know to test an EV charger many manufactures include a 6mA Type B RCD or RCD DD, and the majority of test equipment we use on-site does not hit that requirement.

How to get around this!

Ensure that the tester you are using, has the capability for the installation, so commissioning can be signed off correctly.
